

That words can represent people, places and things (nouns, including...

understand that words can represent people, places and things (nouns, including pronouns), happenings and states (verbs), qualities (adjectives) and details such as when, where and how (adverbs)

Learning intention

- understand that words can represent people, places and things (nouns, including pronouns), happenings and states (verbs), qualities (adjectives) and details such as...

Teach and model

- understanding that words or groups of words can represent the participants (nouns; for example, people, places, things) that are involved in various activities or processes...
- recognising how a sentence can be made more specific by adding adjectives, adverbs and precise verbs

Check understanding

- Explain the main idea in that words can represent people, places and things (nouns, including... using an example.
- Show the idea in a second way: with words, a model, a diagram or symbols.
- Apply the idea to a short unfamiliar situation and justify the result.

Teaching cautions

- Ask the student to explain their choice, not only state an answer.
- Check that key vocabulary is understood in a new example.
- Mix representations so the skill is transferred rather than copied.

Quick lesson sequence

- Connect to prior knowledge and introduce the key vocabulary.
- Model one clear example, then solve a second example together.
- Finish with an independent check and a short student explanation.